

Airborne, Photograph, 18 x 12" by Sara Ascalon

FIRST PLACE AWARD

Juror's Statement

This is a marvelous image on so many different levels. It is brilliantly conceived and technically the execution is exceptional. More importantly, this is an image that demands attention, raises existential questions in a whimsical manner, and immediately extracts a smile.

About the Juror

Henry Rowan

Henry Rowan is a national award-winning photographer who lives in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, where he heads the Pennsylvania Center for Photography in Doylestown. His subject matter tends to be very eclectic and Henry has gained a following for his distinctive style of portraiture as well as his CameraGraphs, which offer a unique portrayal of nature, manscapes, and sports. In addition to being a working, professional photographer, Henry is a frequent lecturer and judge throughout the region and teaches a variety of workshops.

SECOND PLACE AWARD

Juror's Statement

The movement and simplicity in this image combine to command the viewer's attention. It is a high impact photograph that fondly reminds us of the memories of the freedoms of childhood and works well on all levels from conception to completion.

Juror's Statement

This is a beautifully crafted image that has an impact that transcends its simple subject matter. The angle of view works with the symmetry of the white lines, driving the viewer to the modern background, forcing them to consider the impact and relationships inherent in the passage of time.
